The Blate and Barrett Contest

The taking of testimony at St Louis in the occupied nearly six weeks of incessant labor, discloses the grossest fraud ever perpetrated on a people, deliberately planned and carried out by the slave Democracy of St. Louis-a fraud quite equal to the worst Kansas.

The evidence shows that in some precincts the ballot boxes were literally stuffed full of Jekyl Island. Indiana Senators Elected

Gov. Willard, as was anticipated, vetoed the bill passed by the Legislature of Indiana to provide for the election of United States Senators To pass a bill over the veto of the Governor requires a majority of all the members of the Senate and House. In the Senate, the question being-"Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding!" the vote stood yeas 26, nays 23, one excused from voting. The bill was then sent to the House and the vote on the passage stood year 49, nays 48, which was two less than a consti tutional majority. The Slave Trade in Georgia

The President in his late message urges the acquisition of Cubs on the score that it would put an end to the Slave Trade. Suppose the Government first efficiently puts forth its energies to arrest the pirate-traffic opened on the coast of the Southern Atlantic States! The Augusta Chronicle of December 16th, states on reliable authority it says, that about two hundred and seventy of the wild Africans, a portion of the crew of the Wanderer, are on a plantation in South Carolina, only two or three miles below Augusta, on the Savannah River, having been brought there but a few days precontested election case of Blair against Barrett vious on board a steamboat, from some point near Savannah and that sales have already and the St. Louis Democrat has published a been made of some of the cargo. The question has often been asked what pracical good can result from the agitation of the revival of the slave trade! We point to this cargo of sturdy laborers, delivered from the darkness and barbarism of Africa, to be elevated and christianized on our soil. We point t the price paid for this jolly son of the jun-gles, and compare it with the exorbitant prices paid for the fancy and less valuable negroes here. And we claim that these results are the beginning of the blessings to flow in upon the South from the fearless advocacy of revival of the slave trade by one or two independent presses in this State and South Carolina. This trade may be called piracy by a false construcher legitimate commerce.

GENTLEMEN :--- I return you my acknowledgements for the honor you have done me in elect-ing me to preside over your deliberations. It is w several years since this Association was first organized, and the circumstances under which it came into existence, and the purposes for which it was instituted are well known to most of you now present. It was instituted, ntlemen, for the purpose of advancing demo cratic principles—sound, conservative and na-tional in their character—principles, I may add, which rest for their foundation upon the Constiution of the United Stases. Principles such as these, it was justly conceived, were adapted to and their general dissemination and adoption were calculated, it was believed, to strengthen,

Our hopes and expectations, gentlemen, in this respect, can never be gratified or fully realized unless, while we are enjoying our own rights, privileges and immunities under the Constitution, we are willing, at the same time, to allow our fellow citizens, residing in other sections of the country, the privileges of enjoying, unmo-lested, the rights and immunities to which they also are entitled under the same Constitution.

The Constitution itself, in the first instance, was formed in the spirit of conciliation. It was the result of mutual concession, accommodation and compromise. These Colonies, after they had severed their relations with the mother ountry, and before the adoption of the Constion, were, to all intents and purposes, sove reign and independent powers. They were just as independent of one another, as this govern-ment is independent of Great Britain. They ment is independent of Great Britain. They came together for a special purpose—the purpose of mutual safety and protection. They agreed to form a general government. To accomplish this it became necessary that each should surrender a small portion of its rights and privileges. It was done. The powers granted were few, simply and well defined—They are especially enumerated in that instrument which has instrument which has instructed in the powers that your rational view of the mechanical that your rational view of the mechanical ment, which has justly become the pride and glory of the country. All powers, not especially surrendered, were reacreed to the States and to the people thereof. > The popular idea heretofore upon this subject has been that every species of property was subject to the local law; and that a citizen of a chised or shorn of his rights. The doctriwas pretty generally asserted and maintained by Northern and Western Democrats during the last Presidential canvass, but did not find much last Presidential canvass, but did not find much favor or support with Southern. They have always contended that the people of a Territory, while it remains a Territory can exercise no power or authority over that or any other subject except by permission of the general government. That the Territory belongs to the United States, and that the people i habiting the same, being in a state of pupillage, can exercise no power incident to sovereignity until exercise no power incident to sovereignty until they have been admitted into the Union as a State. All acts of popular sovereignty, they contend must be performed in a Constitutional

> All the acts of Congress, since the foundation of the government, with the exception of the cases mentioned, seem to favor this view of the subject. The passage of the Kansas and Ne-braska bill may be regarded as a grant of power from the general government to the people of those Territories to exercise the right of popular It was to all intents and purposes an act of intervention upon the part of Congress in the local affairs of the Territories; and the people of Kansas and Nebraska have, in no is stance, been permitted to act except in obedien to the same. Such have been other acts of a kindred character passed by the last and previous sessions of Congress. They have all been subversive if not in palpable violation of the doctrine of popular sovereignty.

With such a contrariety of views upon this subject, fellow citizens, and all growing out of the different interpretation of the Constitution and the relative powers of the general and local governments upon that subject, it is not to be wondered at that the great Democratic party, which is united upon all other subjects, should be somewhat divided on this. It is to be expected. The people are naturally jealous of their rights. It is proper that they should be They should always be protected to the fullest extent in the enjoyment of the same; and should guard, with watchful vigilance, against any encroachments of arbitrary power, especially when such power is sought to be exercised in an unauthorized or an unconstitutional manner. I hope, however, that this apparent di-vision in our ranks is but temporary; and, that in the end, we will all be found supporting, with the utmost barmony and efficiency, those great cardinal principles and measures whose triumpl and success will contribute o the permanency
